

St. Augustine of Canterbury Sunday Readers' and Intercessors' Schedule

March 11, 2018 to August 26, 2018

Year B

This is the next schedule in our continuing service as Readers and Intercessors at St. Augustine of Canterbury. Again, thanks to all for participating.

NOTE THIS CHANGE: From March, Rev. Paul has access to some prepared Intercessions for each of the Sundays. The Reader of the lesson will receive an email with the Intercessions for that Sunday to which you can add the names of persons in the appropriate places.

As before please sit in a pew to easily exit when the time comes. When using the lectern, move to it before the end of the preceding part of the liturgy so that you can begin immediately following.

The importance of "The Prayers of the People" is that they are said on behalf of the congregation, not as a formal prayer by the clergy. The different presenters also provide fresh voices for the intercessions.

To be effective, the readers and intercessors must be prepared, just as any good leader. Please note these suggestions:

- 1 For the scheduled readings, it is wise to prepare by reading the passage a couple of times out loud at home to avoid a mispronunciation or an uncertain pause. Some of the sentences are unusually long and can lose their meaning if not read with meaning and understanding. It is wise to read relatively slowly so that hearers can follow the message. If you have any reference material on the reading, it is useful for preparation and to understand the background.

Please announce the page and starting verse and allow people time to find the selection in the pew bible if it is in their hands.

- 2 For the Intercessions, preparation is important also. Read ahead of time the script you will receive for a good flow that avoids awkward pauses.
- 3 The pew Bible is the New Revised Standard Version (NRSV) – the same as the lectern Bible. The Psalm is said or sung by another person leading; the Reader is not responsible for it. The Gospel is read by an Officiant.)

If your assigned date is inconvenient, please switch with another reader and inform Jane Crosby early in the week @ 519 979 4431. She needs to add the name to the bulletin.
